Any news on when Metric Halo will be releasing drivers for Windows 7 & 8?

Thanks!

I am wondering about this as well. I understand that Metric Halo is keeping this a closely guarded secret, but I am planning an upgrade and I'll be going for windows/linux. After 10 years on OSX I've had enough.

In the next couple of months I'll be done planning and ready to buy a new interface (among other things), and if MH releases a windows-compatible device (or better yet, Linux-compatible) I may very well go with that product.

BUMP

Any new on this ? I sent an email and metric told me its in the works. I moved my whole rig to PC nonetheless, knowing my LIO-8 would become obsolete for the time being. I got a Babyface in the meantime just for output, but i'm really anxious to get my metric back...

Any rough timeframe ?
